ROMMEL'S RATS ON RUN: AXIS COMPLETE DEFEAT INDICATED

AN OFFICIAL BRITISH SOURCE CLAIMS AXIS ARMIES ARE "BUSTED"

ALL UNITS OF MILITARY AND NAVAL SERVICE ARE CO-OPERATING

By ROBERT E. BUNELLE
LONDON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—An official British source said today that Marshal Rommel's army "is busted" and predicted that its fate would be finally sealed soon.

The United States and British air force, the British army and navy are engaged in what amounts to a mop-up process, this informant, who must remain anonymous, declared.

"We are giving the Herrenvolk in uniform a taste of what they gave the civilian population of France and we intend to keep on giving it to them," he said.

"This is only a prelude to what the Germans and their Italian lackeys can expect in the next few months."

Rommel's army is caught in a comparatively narrow defile along the coast and the Germans and Italians are being "hunted like rabbits" with every weapon at the allies' command, this source declared.

He said the British already had taken "a hell of a lot of prisoners" and would take more, but indicated that the grimest kind of slaughter was being inflicted on "virtual Axis" troops.

This, he added, is Britain's answer to those who said the British could not fight on land and could not forget old school tie traditions.

Rommel Somewhere in Desert. This source said that Rommel was known definitely to be in the desert but that it was not known exactly where.

"It is impossible to be too optimistic" about what has happened and what is going to happen in North Africa, declared this source who ordinarily is extremely reserved in comments on such operations.

GEORGE M. COHAN, GREATEST OF SONG AND DANCE MEN, DIES
HAD BEEN AWARDED CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL FOR PATRIOTISM

By MARK BARRON
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—George M. Cohan, greatest song and dance man of them all, died at 5 a. m. today.

His death came just as he would have had it, for the only people around Times Square were either actors on their way home or policemen and air raid wardens on their patrol. Those were the people he knew best.

NEW OKLAHOMA SENATOR
E. H. Moore, 71, above, millionaire Tulsa oil man and anti-new deal Democrat drafted as Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate, turned in a stunning upset by defeating Senator Josh Lee, outspoken new deal Democrat, on the basis of incomplete and unofficial returns in Tuesday's election.

Announce Changes School Holidays Meet Conditions

Several revisions in the holiday schedule of the Corsicana public schools were announced today by Superintendent W. H. Norwood, who pointed out that wartime conditions necessitated the modifications.

All schools will remain in session Armistice Day, Wednesday, Nov. 11. But Superintendent Norwood asserted that appropriate observances of the end of the first World War would be conducted in the schools.

Classes will be dismissed Thursday and Friday, Nov. 12-13, in order that the gasoline rationing program can be expedited, he said.

Registration of motorists for ration books will be conducted only in the elementary schools, he pointed out, adding that the junior and senior high schools would not be used.

Negroes will register at the Jackson High school, he explained.

Since school teachers are devoting their time to the registration without compensation, citizens are urged to apply as soon as possible for their ration books—preferably on Thursday, Nov. 12.

Thanksgiving will be observed with only a brief holiday, he announced. This will be Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26. Schools will resume classes on Nov. 27, observing one day, he said.

In addition to saving one day at Thanksgiving, another day will be conserved by eliminating the annual County Fair holiday. But these holidays will be returned to the students at Christmas when the schools will be dismissed two days earlier on Friday, Dec. 18.

Norwood pointed out that the above changes are in line with modifications being made by colleges and universities as well as public schools throughout the state.

FRESH GAINS MADE ON GUADALCANAL BY AMERICAN FIGHTERS

ALLIED FORCES ON NEW GUINEA ALSO CONTINUE TOWARD BUNA

By JOHN H. WIGGINS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Persistent battering of the Japanese by land and air gave American and Allied fighters fresh ground gains today in besieged Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Further widening an attempted Japanese vise that threatened to close on the American-held airfield in Guadalcanal, United States marines and soldiers forced back the enemy's western flank, capturing about 20 machine guns and two small field artillery pieces in the process.

In New Guinea, westward of the Solomon Islands, Allied troops defeated Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command overcame "strong enemy resistance" and plunged on through the jungles toward the Japanese coastal base at Buna.

The Navy reported the continued American advances in Guadalcanal last night. Supported by Army and Navy planes that strafed and bombed the Japanese troops and positions, the United States forces inched forward along beaches and through the dense underbrush Monday (South Pacific time) to relieve the pressure on the important airbase.

At the other end of the newly installed enemy vise, east of Henderson airport, recently landed Japanese troops, presumably were manipulating for a thrust at the springboard of the American aerial assault on the foe's ships, troops and installations. Last night, however, the Navy said "there is nothing to report."

For obvious reasons, the Navy gave no hint of what reception the American forces were preparing for the Japanese fleet in event of its return to the Solomon Islands.

The enemy warships, which disappeared after suffering heavy damage Oct. 26 in a major air-naval engagement east of the Stewart Islands and about 260 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, were expected to reappear in "formidable" numbers, Secretary MacArthur's headquarters reported.

CONGRESS CONTROL LOST BY NEW DEAL TUESDAY ELECTION

DEMOCRATS, HOWEVER, MAINTAIN BARE MAJORITY IN HOUSE

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—For practical legislative purposes, the New Deal lost control of Congress in Tuesday's election although the Democratic party maintained a bare majority with 218 house seats and a larger margin in the senate with 56 members.

While late returns in a few closely contested races held the possibility of slight increases in these majorities, there remained little doubt that Republicans and anti-new deal Democrats could control legislation in either body any time they chose to unite.

This was especially true in the house, where the 208 seats already clinched by the Republicans gave them their largest representative since the last days of the Hoover administration in 1931. The bloc of Democratic members who often vote against new deal proposals, there is such a coalition could effect a substantial working majority on any controversial legislation.

In the senate, the Democrats elected 15, to combine with 41 hold-overs for a total of 56, seven above the 49 necessary for control. They appeared likely to make their total 57 since Senator James P. Murray, democrat, was leading his Republican opponent, Wellington D. Rankin, Montana.

This possible eight-vote margin for the Democrats, however, would leave the out-and-out new dealers in the minority any time five of a dozen or more majority party members who have been critical of administration policies elected to go along with a solid Republican lineup on some issue.

U. S. Defenders Of Guadalcanal Kill Many Japs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The navy announced today that American defenders of Guadalcanal killed 250 Japanese in successful actions on the Japanese western flank November 3 and had also opened an attack on reinforced enemy troops on the eastern flank.

A communiqué said that the successful attacks to the west had also resulted in the capture of three field pieces, twelve 37 millimeter light artillery guns and 30 machine guns.

Also, it was announced that United States naval forces had shelled enemy positions near Kokumbona on the north coast of Guadalcanal.

The Service Men's Hospitality Center, project of the Corsicana Recreation Board, will hold open house Friday night at 8 o'clock for citizens of Corsicana, staff officers and civilian employees of Air Activities and a cordial invitation is given to all interested to attend the affair, officers of the board announced Thursday.

The center is the realization of months of work by those who recognized the need for a place for service men to gather and find entertainment. The center is located in the Louise Pace King building at 114 South Benton street and it was through Mrs. King's generosity in offering the facilities of her property that the project was made possible.

An informal program will be given Friday night with Mrs. W. K. Steele, president of the board, and Mayor Joe C. Cuthbert as speakers. Musical entertainment will be given throughout the evening. Special guests Saturday night will be Aviation Cadets of the Corsicana Field and all service men. Jay Silverberg will present A. P. Mays who will offer the use of the center to the Cadets. REPUBLICANS DRAIN HEAVY DEMOCRATIC MAJORITIES AWAY

ADMINISTRATION HAS BARE WORKING MAJORITY LEFT IN CONGRESS

(By The Associated Press.)
Nearly complete returns from Tuesday's elections today disclosed the Republicans had drained off the once formidable Democratic majorities in Congress to a level that might ebb in their favor on important legislation and had about divided the 48 state governorships equally with the Democrats.

Their gains in the congressional and state contests exceeded the brightest hopes of Republican forecasts and almost turned the Democrats out of even nominal control of the house.

Late returns showed that the Democrats had taken 219 house seats, one more than a bare majority, but had suffered a net loss of 42 members as compared with the present house. Republicans had elected 208 representatives, a net gain of 42. In the minor parties, the Progressives had elected two representatives, a net loss of one seat, and the Farmer-Labor and American-Labor parties had held to one seat each.

Four house seats still were undecided today.

In the present house, which continues until the end of the year, the Democrats have a majority of 93 over the Republicans and five minor party members. Their peak was in 1937, with 333 to 80.

With only one senate contest outstanding, that between Senator Murray (D-Mont) and Wellington D. Rankin, (R), the Republicans had gained nine new senate seats.

FRONT LINE ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF CRACKING AXIS LINE

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—An eye-witness account of the recent collapse which cracked open Nazi Marshal Rommel's Egyptian defenses is given here by Frank Martin, Associated Press correspondent who has been in the front lines since the North African campaign was launched 13 days ago.)

By FRANK L. MARTIN
WITH ATTACKING BRITISH FORCES ON THE EL ALAMEIN FRONT, Nov. 3.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The enemy's El Alamein line is crumbling today.

It cannot hold on much longer. The coast road leading westward, back from the front toward El Daba suddenly has become choked with infantry crowded into trucks headed away from the line.

Early Destruction Of North African Armies Of Axis Now Predicted

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Official British quarters late today declared the Axis armies in North Africa were "busted" and predicted their early destruction as the worst military defeat in Adolf Hitler's career of world conquest unfolded on the sands of Egypt.

These quarters said the British 8th Army and Navy, supported by United States and Allied warplanes, were now engaged in what amounted to a mop-up process of the shattered German and Italian armies, and added: "This is only a prelude to what the Germans and their Italian lackeys can expect in the next few months."

Simultaneously, fresh talk of an Allied "second front" reached a crescendo in London.

With the British in swift pursuit, Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken armies were reported fleeing westward across the Egyptian desert amid wild confusion, and early unofficial estimates placed Axis losses at 40,000 troops killed, wounded or captured.

As the Axis staggered in retreat, fighting only rear-guard actions, Leut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery sent the following message to his troops:

"The enemy is in our power and he is just about to crack. . . . We have the chance of putting the whole panzer army in the bag and we will do so. Complete victory is almost in sight."

AXIS ARMY IN FULL FLIGHT IN NORTHERN AFRICA THURSDAY

ROMMEL'S ONCE-PROUD LEGIONS SEEK POSITION TO AVERT DISASTER

CAIRO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The British Eighth Army strove tonight on Egypt's vast desert battlefield for the knockout of the Axis African corps, heartened by an order of the day from its commander, Leut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, which declared that "the enemy is in our power and he is just about to crack."

Montgomery added: "I call on all troops to keep up the pressure and not relax for a single moment. We have a chance to put the whole panzer army in the bag and we will do so."

"I congratulate all troops on what has been achieved. Complete victory is almost in sight!" the order of the day said.

CAIRO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Weakened by the loss of thousands of men captured, killed, wounded or isolated in their desert strongpoints, a once-proud Axis army was in full flight today across western Egypt in a frantic hunt for position to avert destruction.

Only a rearward moving screen of anti-tank guns and tanks shielded the fleeing Axis army. Rommel's African corps from the pressing advance of a United Nations army—the Eighth British—while a comparatively impotent air force sought to parry the onslaught.

ing when their first line infantry began pulling back.

The withdrawal started in the earth sector, which had been under constant barrage for a week and where the bombardment had reached such a pitch of violence that Germans, injured to artillery terror in Russia, fell shell-shocked into British captivity.

The enemy was up against an ominous, ever expanding bulge carved by British infantry into their fortifications west of the gap in the El Alamein line and bristling with American-made tanks and other armored machines. Sheltering the enemy armor, mused to the northwest of this branch, was but one "ring" of German artillery and anti-tank guns. It was thrown up hastily by the Axis in an effort to delay the advancing Allied armored force—the most formidable ever seen in the desert.

At the same time, Axis infantry had begun to feel the stabs of

VETERAN OF MAJOR NAVAL ENGAGEMENTS CIVITAN SPEAKER

VERNON ROE, GUNNERS MATE, SECOND CLASS, IN HEAVY FIGHTING

Members of the Corsicana Civitan Club, at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday, heard first-hand accounts of such major American-Japanese engagements as Pearl Harbor, Midway, Coral Sea, and the initial bombardment of the Solomons, from Second Class Gunners Mate Vernon Roe, who has been attached to the Pacific fleet for the past three years.

Roe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Roe, 1401 Park Avenue, has been in practically every crucial battle since the Japs launched their attack at Pearl Harbor December 7 of last year.

While withholding specific data, he gave an encouraging picture of the American fleet as a whole, but asserted that it has been battling heavy odds all the way. "The Japanese had a larger navy than we at first thought," he stated.

In Number Battles, Having participated in all of the large-scale fights, Roe listed the Midway engagement as perhaps the greatest single battle. Of the Midway affair, he asserted that the Japs had obviously planned to use that island as a more stepping stone to reach the Hawaiian Islands as they were convolving vast supplies and equipment. In a picturesque analysis of the situation, he commented: "The Japs had so much stuff, they couldn't put it all on Midway." The Americans accounted for over half the

In the Midway fight, Roe was aboard a destroyer that was screening the aircraft carrier, Yorktown, which was later sunk by Jap aircraft.

Several Near Misses, In the Coral Sea engagement, Roe said his destroyer escaped with several near misses and rescued a number of survivors from the sunken aircraft carrier Lexington. He recalled at one particular time his destroyer was attacked by 13 two-motored Jap torpedo bombers and 20 high altitude bombers, simultaneously. The destroyer threw up a curtain of shells and flak and succeeded in downing every single torpedo bomber, he said. The Japs came in for the attack just skimming the sea. Anti-aircraft fire from the destroyer folded up the squadron leader which nosed over in the sea and caused two of his squadron members to crash when the tall flew up. Roe said in describing the onslaught.

In Solomon Offensive, The speaker recalled the heavy bombardment that inaugurated the Solomon offensive. He was attached to the task force that sailed in suddenly and began blasting Jap installations of the Islands. He told of rescuing three Jap aviators shot down in the sea near Guadalcanal. "They spoke perfect English and one said he had received his education in the State of Oregon," he said.

Roe said he had watched American airmen fight it out with Japanese fighters and believed that the Yankees were the best pilots in the world. Always fighting against superior forces the daring American flyers overcame odds that never averaged less than 5 to 1, he said.

Of Japanese submarine warfare, he was inclined to regard it as very ineffective.

Roe also explained how a task force, which is a naval innovation in this war, is operated.

President Frank W. Williams presided. Dr. J. W. David introduced the speaker.

R. A. Armstrong was introduced as a new member.

Mrs. Sarah Cole Honored on Her 85th Birthday

WORTHAM, Nov. 5.—(Sp.)—It is not often that one is privileged to enjoy such marked hospitality and entertainment as was extended by Mrs. John Munroe in her home last Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30. The occasion was to honor her distinguished mother, Mrs. Sarah Cole, on her 85th birthday. Many friends, former pupils and relatives came to bring tribute and personally give loving greetings and best wishes. Those who could not come sent telegrams, cards or flowers.

Mrs. W. M. Wilson of Corsicana, presented Mrs. Cole as she appeared on the stairway making a beautiful picture with her lovely white hair, graced in a dinner dress of blue tulle and corsage of pink carnations. Her friends greeted her by singing "Happy Birthday." The response was graciously acknowledged by the honoree as she seemed suddenly to step from a lovely painting of a master artist.

Mrs. J. C. Regeater of Dallas, a prominent musician and president of the Dallas Federated Music Clubs, came to join in paying homage and was the house guest of Mrs. Cole Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Regeater added much to the program which consisted of original compositions by Mrs. Cole, singing "Lullabye" and "A Prayer," the latter Mrs. Cole had dedicated to her friend, Mrs. K. W. Speed. Mrs. Regeater's lovely voice and charming personality were much enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. D. R. Wimberly, a well-known interpreter of Mrs. Cole's songs, sang "Songs," "Cardinal Bird" and "A New Commandment." Mrs. Wimberly's beautiful soprano voice and pleasing manner were thoroughly enjoyed. Other compositions of this gifted composer were most delightfully given in were: "Springtime" and "Sky-boat," trilled sung by Mrs. Wimberly, Mrs. Munroe and Mrs. Master-son.

Mrs. Isabelle Melton, a former pupil and prominent musician of Corsicana sang Brown Bird Singing, and dedicated it to the honoree. Mrs. M. S. Dockum, a friend and co-worker of Corsicana, was the able accompanist for Mrs. Melton.

During the social hour Mrs. T. B. Poindester and Mrs. Marshall S. Pinkerton presided at the tea table.

Assisting the hostess in dispensing hospitality in the reception room and dining room were Mesdames K. W. Speed, T. B. Poindester, Misses Browne Wimberly and Patsy Bounds.

Friends continued to call and enjoy rare occasion long after receiving hours and into the late evening. Many were former pupils, relatives and friends that came to greet their well known music teacher of such rare ability. No doubt much of the gifted talent of this talented lady is lost by her gifted daughter, Brownie Cole Munroe is widely known in the musical world for her voice and piano, both as teacher and performer.

Those friends came to avail themselves of this day's affair to express greetings, love and sincere appreciation of Mrs. Cole and acclaim her great talent and contribution to the musical world with ranks in their own individuality with the masters of classics.

Corsicana people in attendance were friends of many years: Mrs. George T. Jester, Mrs. W. G. Baker, Mrs. W. L. Holman, Mrs. M. S. Dockum, Mrs. W. M. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Hasham, Mrs. J. S. Hasham, Mrs. T. B. LeSuer, Mrs. I. E. Davant, Mrs. Isabel Melton and Miss Mabel Bonner.

From Chaffield were Mrs. John Easterling, Mrs. W. A. Mizell and Ford Marchbanks.

Purdon Man Promoted, Thomas N. Ellis, son of Mrs. Cora Ellis, Purdon, has been promoted to the rank of corporal and is now stationed at Perrin Field.

AMERICANS BOMBERS ATTACKED PORT LAE HEAVILY WEDNESDAY

PLANES ROARED RIGHT DOWN MAIN STREET IN DEVASTATING RAIDS

By MURLIN SPENCER
SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 4.—(Delayed)—(P)—United States bombers and attack-bombers smashed at Japanese-occupied Lae at such low altitudes today that they could see the enemy running madly for cover in the

New Guinea North Coast port. Twin-engined Martin "Marauder" B-26 medium bombers and swift, twin-engined Douglas "Boston" A-20 attack planes made two daylight sweeps against the base which the Japanese often use as a springboard for bombing against allied positions in this island.

"It really did a lot of good to hammer the place," said Major Donald C. Hall of Corpus Christi, Texas. "We went right down main street, just above the tree tops and caused one explosion which appeared to be an ammunition dump."

The B-26's went over first, dropping their bombs, and were followed almost immediately by the A-20's.

(This apparently was a new style blow against the Japanese in New Guinea, calculated to catch them off guard with an air assault combining speed and power. The raiders are reported to be the fastest planes of their type in the world and the A-20's built to work at low altitude in support of ground troops when used as bombers, serve the British as "Havoc" night fighter planes.)

Thrilling Experience, The raid was a new, thrilling experience for two A-20 pilots, Capt. L. L. Lerner of San Francisco and Lieut. J. B. Roan of Shreveport, La.

Other A-20 pilots on the mission included Lieutenant V. J. Longley of Boise, Idaho; Capt. Christmums mycepp miumf f ard topher Petri, Cleveland, Ohio; and Lieutenants Fred W. Klatt, Rurango, Colo.; W. J. Beck, Pecos, Tex.; C. C. Conn, Louisville, Ky., and R. H. Wilkins, Portsmouth, Va.

In other operations today, a Flying Fortress crew had a narrow escape from a great accident which threatened to send the four-motor-

U. S. Bombers Blast Ships

CAIRO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—United States heavy bombers scored direct hits yesterday on four enemy ships in the Libyan port of Bengasi and probably on a fifth, an American communique announced today.

American medium bombers and fighters continued to harass the retreating enemy, inflicting heavy casualties on axis armor and motor convoys.

Four Messerschmitt 109's definitely were destroyed and there were no United States losses, said the war bulletin from the U. S. Army Middle East command.

ed B-17 bomber plunging to the ground.

The Fortress was taking off on a mission when the wind whirled open a hatch door and released a deflated life raft which blew back against the tail. Fixed to inflate when released, the raft began filling up, freezing the controls.

The pilot, Lieutenant Melville Ehlers of Phat, Texas, and the copilot, Lieutenant Bill Wilson of Fort Worth, both braced against the controls but the plane whipped wildly and plunged toward the ground.

Corporal Paul Harmon of Cumberland, Md., pushed open a side door and the crew prepared to bail out. Private Lowell Lee of New York, however, turned a machine gun on the inflated raft, punctured it and enabling the pilot to regain control. But the plane came back badly damaged.

Other crew members who stepped from the plane after the close call were Lieutenant Boyd Boren of San Antonio, Tex.; Lieutenant Arnold Osborn of St. Joseph, Mo.; Corporal Walter Buchanan of Bradford, Pa.; and Private Michael Androde of Buffalo, N. Y.

American Legion Auxiliary Booklet Given Inductees

Much credit is due the American Legion Auxiliary of Corsicana for their thoughtfulness in presenting to each draftee upon departure for America's armed forces, a copy of the war's best seller, "Fall-In," the Legion's booklet of advice and information to men entering military and naval service. These booklets are given to each man free of charge, and the local Auxiliary purchases the books with proceeds from the annual Poppy Sale in Corsicana.

More than 1,250,000 copies of the first edition of "Fall-In" have gone to America's fighting men, and the book has now gone into a revised edition, which will include the latest legislation enacted for service men, including the new schedule of pay and allotments.

The pamphlet, which is pocket-sized, starts right in to give the soldier the benefit of the experience gained by Legionnaires of the First World War, and it contains a wealth of non-technical information not elsewhere compiled in one booklet.

Milt D. Campbell, executive director of the war-relief division of the National Defense at national headquarters of the Legion in Indianapolis, is author of "Fall-In," and those who use his valuable information will benefit both during the period of their war service and in the trying years to come after the war.

Men entering the service are especially urged to read page 15 of the booklet, since a detailed list of the many things that he should have put on record while in the

ALL NAVY RATINGS HAVE BEEN OPENED FOR ENLISTMENTS

The U. S. Navy recruiting station here announced today that all ratings previously closed are now open for enlistment. Almost every rating is available, in the Navy's Construction Battalion. Ratings are especially needed.

It was pointed out that these ratings range from Petty Officer Third Class to Chief Petty Officer with pay ranging from $78 to $120 per month with additional allowances for dependents. An additional 20 per cent is allowed for overseas duty.

Details concerning these ratings can be secured at the Corsicana navy recruiting office located in the basement of the Post Office.

Seven Hundred Presented Locally. Mrs. Edwin Milam, president of the local American Legion Auxiliary, and Mrs. Andrew Steele, secretary-treasurer of the organization, have presented copies of "Fall-In" to more than 700 Navajo county boys who have left for induction centers during the past few months, and the correspondence at National Headquarters in Indianapolis indicates that this fare-well gesture on the part of Auxiliary members is thoroughly appreciated in various branches of the Army and Navy.

JESTER DECLARES MUST CURB WATER EAST TEXAS FIELD

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—(P)—Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester asserted today that the federal government would take over the gigantic East Texas oil field if the commission failed to halt excessive salt water production.

"I have just returned from Washington where I was told in no uncertain terms that the government will take the field over and settle with the property owners later if the commission does not stop salt water production," he said.

Production of salt water in East Texas threatens to dissipate the pressure of the field, Jester said in a statement, and the army and navy are taking steps to insure the source of oil for the big East Texas to Illinois pipeline be safeguarded.

Jester declared that the commission would incorporate in the lease transfer plan of J. Zeppa of Tyler, independent operator.

Zeppa proposed that the commission permit transfer of the allowable wells producing excessive water to other wells on the same lease for a period not exceeding 18 months. No well would be permitted to produce more than six barrels daily of the transferred allowable nor could the allowable be assigned to a well flowing more than 25 per cent water.

"In normal times," Jester asserted, "the Zeppa plan would not appeal to a lawyer interested in equity, but under the circumstances, and in the face of government control, I feel that it is a good plan."

"As a believer in state's rights and the rights of states to regulate their own industries, I feel it is better for us here in Texas to do the regulating than turn it over to Washington."

APPLICATIONS FOR RATIONING BOOKS NOW AVAILABLE

Applications for gasoline rationing books are now available at service stations, dealers, and the chamber of commerce, Chairman Wilbur A. Wright of the local war price and rationing board announced Tuesday.

Chairman Wright explained certain procedures in filling out the applications in answer to a number of inquiries received by his office.

Names must be printed or typed with the last name appearing first, he said. Those unable to make personal application due to illness or business reasons that require them to be out of town can secure books through a representative, provided they furnish a statement explaining the indisposition, he said. Otherwise, he added, a registered owner may apply for a rationing book whenever he happens to be on Nov. 12-13-14 registration days.

No tire inspections should be made before December, but the serial numbers of each five tires for each vehicle must appear on the application. All passenger car owners will receive "A" books. Applications for commercial vehicles in excess of 150 miles may appear before a special committee at the school house on any one of the registration days and make formal application for occupational mileage. Chairman Wright pointed out.

MORE GIRLS URGED ENTER TRAINING FOR AIRCRAFT POSITIONS

A call for more girls to enroll in war work training classes for war work in the aircraft factories of Texas has been issued by Pat S. Tillman, district supervisor of the United States Employment Service.

Girls between the ages of 18 and 23, married or single, are eligible for the basic training period of six weeks in radio, aircraft, sheet metal and machine shop work. If additional training is needed to enable the girls to handle jobs on production lines in factories, it will be given, Tillman said.

Each girl is paid $11.00 a month while in training and is furnished her work clothes, except shoes, her room and board in the U. S. A. dormitories of the war work center at Waco, her linens and blankets, and transportation to Waco.

Young women can qualify for this war work training if they have completed the ninth grade in school, are in good physical condition and can furnish a birth certificate as proof of their citizenship. Those interested are urged to contact the local United States Employment Service office at 113 West Fourth avenue in Corsicana for immediately assignment.

MATURING BONDS OF ROAD DISTRICT ARE CALLED FOR PAYMENT

Call of $9,300 maturing road district bonds, transfer of $2,000 from the general to the salary fund, and the auction sale of livestock at the county farm featured the Monday afternoon session of the commissioners' court. Claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

Bonds amounting to $7,000, Road District No. 1, maturing December 1, 1942, bearing 5 per cent interest, and $2,000 bonds of Road District No. 8, same maturity date and interest rate, were called for payment in a resolution passed.

The court voted to pay not to exceed $250 for the improving of a building owned on South Beaton street near the Commercial Hotel as the headquarters of the local office of the Texas Department of Public Welfare. The rent of the building is reported $25 per month. The public welfare department formerly was housed in the 1006 building annex on North Beaton street, destroyed by fire several days ago.

An acre of land was authorized to be deeded back to the Swinick estate as it had ceased to be used as a schoolhouse site.

The salary of Mrs. Blanche Coley, department of public welfare here, was raised from $50 to $60 per month for November and December.

Six cows, four yearlings, three shoats, four mules, three sows, 13 pigs, a bear, a saddle, turning plow, harrow and other farm tools at the county farm brought $1-

057.25 at the auction sale conducted Monday afternoon at the county farm.

E. D. McCormick, county judge, said that two cows were not sold. This is in line with the disposition of the farm as a county farm operated by the county.

BRITISH REPORT

He hinted that besides United States and British Imperial land and air forces, British naval forces also are smashing steadily away at Rommel and that some of Britain's finest regiments are in reserve waiting for their turn.

This source expressed belief that the Germans had their main supply dumps in the front lines and that they would not find it possible this time to run away as they did when Lieutenant General Neil M. Ritchie, then commanding the Eighth Army, was chasing them.

The spokesman paid high tribute to American war equipment and supplies sent to the Middle East.

"We've got Rommel where we wanted him," he said, "and the German soldiers are going to find out what the kind of warfare they have been inflicting on civilian populations is like."

The defeat of Marshal Rommel's armies in Egypt, followed by other allied offensives which will give relief to the embattled Russians, Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal, told an audience of war workers today.

"This is not the only diversion we can or shall make to help our Russian allies," Sir Stafford, former ambassador to Moscow, declared. "As our strength and that of our American allies builds up other offensives will be started in other areas."

He said the Eighth army was "destroying German and Italian land and air forces which might otherwise be joining in the attack on the Soviet armies."

Offensive Forewarned.

The defeat of Rommel's African forces was welcomed by allied governments in London today as a forerunner of imminent offensives against the axis in Europe and in the Mediterranean.

Smuts, whose confidential conferences in London preceded the current campaign in which South African troops are actively engaged, ventured his suggestion in congratulatory messages to Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British commander in the Middle East, and General Fran Theoren of the South African forces.

Reuters reported feeling in Australia "that the tide is turning against the axis."

that the allies at last are on the march and there soon is to be a second front which will free the occupied countries from the axis.

The same feeling was shared by spokesmen for the exiled governments of Poland, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Holland and by the Fighting French.

The Norwegian official said the news would spread swiftly throughout Norway over illicit radio sets and would be "the finest thing for Norwegian morale" in months.

Smuts, whose confidential conferences in London preceded the current campaign in which South African troops are actively engaged, ventured his suggestion in congratulatory messages to Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British commander in the Middle East, and General Fran Theoren of the South African forces.

What It Means—GETTING PARTS FOR HOME APPLIANCES

By HERMAN ALLEN.

You probably saw in the papers about how some 4,000 factories in 74 metal-working industries had virtually stopped manufacturing goods for civilian use.

More than nine tenths of the unfilled orders held by these plants were for war goods.

"That's fine," you thought. "Industry is really getting into the swing of war production."

"But what do we do when the washing machine finally gives out?"

I inquired about that at the War Production Board, and it looks fairly good as for getting repair parts for household goods. Production of many new items such as washing machines, electrical appliances and refrigerators have been cut off completely in many cases, of course, but most industries are continuing with at least a trickle of replacement parts.

One large sewing machine concern is doing the biggest repair part business of its history. With clothing—and almost everything else—up in price, there is a vast increase in home sewing.

"Based on the materials allotment for repair parts for agricultural machinery," a WPB spokesman told me, "I would say that civilians can count on adequate repair parts for essential home equipment."

WPB has granted farm equipment manufacturers 130 per cent of their 1940 consumption of material used for repair and replacement parts.

WPB Chairman Nelson backs this up. "The things for civilians are a wartime economy are to be programmed and scheduled just like the army and navy," he told a recent press conference.

"That probably would mean that for every 100,000 airplanes, WPB expects to grant materials for 100,000 gear wheels for washing machines, for example—or for every 50,000 tanks, 50,000 essential chassis for electric refrigerators."

But don't expect to find too many new heating elements for electric hair dryers, or extra ice trays for refrigerators.

Essential repair parts for autos, motorcycles and bicycles are sure to continue to get the green light. Transportation is too necessary to overlook.

Even look too hopefully for new kitchen stoves made of heat-proof plastics. Plastics were one of the first things to turn up unexpectedly short soon after we got into the war. Things that go into many of them also are used to make smokeless powder and other munitions.

Radio? No new ones, of course, after present stocks are exhausted, but the Office of War Information wants a working radio in every home. The outlook is that strenuous measures will be taken to work this out.

Mrs. Wilbur Wright, co-chairman, Mrs. O. W. Holmes, Mrs. Ed M. Polk, Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Woolley, Mrs. Harry Kaufman, Mrs. Robert Watt, Mrs. W. H. Milam, Mrs. Claude White.

SERVICE MEN TO DISCOVER A KINDLY CORSICANA; MUCH PRAISE DUE 3 LOCAL WOMEN and the Service Men's Hospital Center is opened on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, the three Corsicana women who will deserve the lion's share of praise will be Mrs. W. K. Steele, chairman of the Corsicana Recreation Board, under whose supervision the project was launched; Mrs. John Corley, chairman of the room committee; and Miss Ethel Mae Tatum, co-worker on the room committee.

Anytime day or night during the past four weeks, these three generous-hearted Corsicanans have been located at the Center—most of the time, doing hard, physical labor for the project. They may have been found climbing steep stairways into dusty attics of Corsicana citizens who were donating various articles of furniture to the project—they may have been found painstakingly inspecting sample after sample of slip-cover materials—they may have been discovered poring over paint catalogues in search of a gay and festive color scheme that would appeal to all who enter the Center or they may have been found looking over sinks, water heaters, pianos, library tables, chairs, and lamps that were being offered—or they may have been listening attentively to local women's organizations which desired to donate subscriptions to the project, or to many other Corsicana citizens who desired to make the pathways of America's own service men just a little brighter.

Little brighter, indeed, as they have been found painting the walls and sky blue paint have completely transformed the building from a location gently reminiscent of former popular Corsicana hardware store into a jolly Service Men's recreation center.

To these three Corsicana women go the thanks of the local citizens—this city has a big, warm heart for their share in proving that filled with kindness, and that it is a happy to provide a "house by the side of the road" for all Service Men who pass this way.

Others Contribute Liberally.

Officers, committee chairmen, and especially the finance chairman, painters, electricians, carpenters, plumbers, contractors and architects have given freely of their time, and to begin with, Louie Pace King gave the building rent-free for one year in order that the center might become a reality.

The visitor will be greeted on Friday evenings by members of the Recreation Board, and invited into a fresh and colorful setting where hospitality will be displayed by volunteer hostesses and where no strings will be attached to the recreational facilities offered. The recipients must merely be Service Men.

The genuine friendliness that Corsicana will offer its Service Men at the new center will typify the greatness of its heart, and when these men in uniform return to their various units, they will be proud to express the good word of Corsicana and Texas hospitality.

The pulse-beat of the city has been quickened and deepened in time with the march of fighting men, and when the war is over, this spirit of greater service to one's fellow man, and a more frank friendliness should surely be one of the heritages of these troublous times.

NUMBER INSTRUCTORS LOCAL ARMY PRIMARY SCHOOL HAVE UNUSUAL RECORDS AVIATION

The third issue of "Flying Lines," official publication of aviators at the Air Activities Center of Texas, which rolled off the press Tuesday, gave an interesting review of the aerial experiences of several outstanding instructors at the school.

It was disclosed that four of the instructors hold some of the oldest pilot licenses in the United States. They are J. A. French, H. C. Brooke, Leonard Long, and A. P. Foster.

French is listed as the dean of the field's instructors, having thousands of hours before he graduated for a license in 1925. Prior to that time he had been an instructor in the first World War stationed at Gerstner Field, Lake Charles, La. Among his associates was the late Col. George of the army air force, who proved to the doubting aviation followers back in the mid-twenties that an alpine could recover from a spin.

Brooke is another pioneer in the aviation industry. He built up his total hours in the old flying "Jenny" and the famous Ford tri-motor. He gained his initial flight training in the army. At that time the spin was still a fatal maneuver and the slow roll impossible because of the slow planes.

Brooke flew with the army seven years, having access to the larger planes of that era which was the late twenties. At that particular period, 100 miles per hour was top speed and the snap roll and loop were pretty daring stunts.

It was pointed out in the article that comparatively, the primary trainers at the Corsicana field could out-climb, out-manuever, and out-run the first class fighter ships of the first World War.

Long has close to 4,000 hours in the air and has been flying about as long as any other native Texan. C. Brooke, Leonard Long, and A. P. Foster.

MORE INFORMATION ABOUT SEEKING OF GASOLINE BOOKS

In making application for gasoline rationing books, motorists were advised today by Chairman Wilbur A. Wright that in the event the serial numbers on their tires are not legible, a description of the tires, including brand, will suffice.

Other items concerning gasoline rationing applications included instructions to owners of tractors and stationary engines to secure application blanks from their wholesale distributors.

Special rationing are necessary for automobiles bearing dealer plates if they are being used as demonstrators.

If a motorist is away from Corsicana on Nov. 22, date that actual rationing goes into effect, he can purchase enough gas to return home by making special application to the nearest board.

Periodical inspection of tires can be made by any certified tire inspector. Maximum prices for inspection includes 25 cents per automobile, when no tires are removed; 50 cents per wheel when tires are removed; 75 cents for removal of tires on small trucks, and $1 per wheel for removal of tires on large trucks. Inside tires on dual wheels will be no more than 50 cents extra.

WAR REVEALS PRECIOUSNESS OF HOME AS NATION'S CORE*

First Factor in Morale—Nazi Program For Disruption of Home Life—Are We Having a Return to Traditional American Type?—Christian Culture in Domestic Life

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

One of the most diabolical atrocities of the Nazis has been the systematic disruption of the homes of the conquered peoples. Children have been torn from their parents, to undergo indoctrination in the principles of Hitlerism. Husbands and wives have been separated. By every possible means, family life has been disrupted. Even in Germany itself the training of children has been taken out of the hands of parents, and turned over to the state.

This malignant policy goes far beyond the family separations which war makes necessary. Home is more precious to absent soldiers than it was in peace time.

"Though the boys be far away, They think of home," they say. They think of home. The regular radio broadcasts between soldiers overseas and their families at home. These brief messages are full of human drama. Even more touching are the Sunday talks between parents in Great Britain and their little children who have been sent to Canada for safety. These are so poignant that I simply cannot stand them; they tear at my very vitals. In such hours the value of home is far less than the thoughts of real home-making in the minds of young persons.

The past twenty-five years may be called our "away from home era." Multitudes of modern youth sought their pleasures outside of the family circle. The automobile, the motion pictures and the allure of dance halls and tap rooms were largely responsible for this; though the restlessness and thoughtlessness that followed World War I was a basic factor. The historic picture of the family circle became outmoded. And something fine and essential went out from our civilization.

Sober second thoughts. War and cognate causes, are inducing sober second thoughts. More hard thinking, upon the essentials of life, is being done today, by more persons than ever before. Youth has become serious, and more given to "long, long thoughts."

Naturally, the preciousness of home and family life is emerging to its primary place. The family is the basic unit of all organized society. Out of its weaknesses, uncounted social ills; its strength is the real strength of the nation. No other motive to sustain a people throughout a war is equal to that of the preservation of the home. This accounts for the myriads of civilian defense workers on duty every day and every night. We shall defend our homes to the last drop of blood; what has befallen conquered Europe can never happen here. Hundreds of thousands of our military forces are overseas to maintain a first line of defense of our homes.

Equally urgent is the maintenance of our traditional standards of home life. To come directly to the core of the subject, let us admit that religion is the first factor in a good home. We shall have to get back to the primary place of God in family life if we are to arrest the recent trend toward powerlessness. His presence unifies and stabilizes and exalts all family relationships from the earliest infancy, every child should know that God is the head of the family.

Pictures on the Wall
On the walls of many homes I have seen an illuminated card declaring, "Christ is the head of this house." Less directly—especially among Catholics—it is the use of many household pictures to display a picture of Christ. I know one householder who says, "In the hallways of our home we have a distinctively Christian picture, so that every one who enters, be he neighbor or guest, knows that this is to be a Christian home."

When, long years ago, we built our modest home in Swarthmore, and set aside a large room for our two little boys, I went to great pains, and with considerable expense, to secure enough Bible picture rolls—selecting only the best—to make a frieze around the entire room, arranging them in chronological order, to portray outstanding events in the Old and New Testaments. The room has been repeatedly papered since, but that frieze still stands, with its silent teachings.

This whole question of fine Christian art upon the walls of a home deserves consideration. The impression made upon the memories of children is indelible.

Grace Before Meat
Modern life has made the old-fashioned form of family worship impracticable in most homes. But the same end may be served by the faithful practice of "grace before meat," the observance of which is almost an essential mark of good breeding in most British homes. When, twice a day, the whole family bows in acknowledgment of the goodness and care of God, there is exerted an influence that covers all of life.

Like every other exercise of religion, grace before meat is better than no religion at all. Instead of mumbling unintelligibly a stereotyped formula, the father should give real thought to the phrasing of this act of thanksgiving and petition. Some forms of grace, when repeated in concert in the morning, the familiar children's hymn, "Father we thank Thee for the night" is appropriate. I learned in Jerusalem:

"God is great and God is good,
And we thank Him for this food,
By His hand must all be fed;
Give us Lord, our daily bread."
When there were four in our family we each took a part in the 145th Psalm:

(1) "The eyes of all wait upon Thee;
(2) And thou givest them their meat in due season.
(3) Thou openest Thine hand,
(4) And satisfiest the desire of every living thing.
The importance of grace before meat as a means of Christian culture can scarcely be over-emphasized.

Well trained children are taught in the home the great stories of the Bible, with many passages memorized. Happy is the family with a taste for music that gathers about the piano to sing the old hymns. Radio is no substitute for reading aloud in the family circle. Homes where the Sunday School Lesson is discussed in table talk, and the minister's sermon is reviewed, maintain an important cultural influence. Methods and usages for promoting religion in the home are many; but it is the spirit of consecration that counts most.

The great man is he who does not lose his child-heart.

Some folks ain't satisfied with worrying about things today. They got to have problems to worry about after the war. To keep in style, I've figured out something to fret over.

Well, you know these Hollywood glamour girls is swarming to our military camps, along with men actors and other entertainers, to put on programs for our boys.

This is a fine thing, and the boys get a great kick out of same. But when Johnny Doughboy comes back home, he's going to be mighty sophisticated. That's what worries me. The program at the ice cream social is going to look mighty ordinary to that boy.

Yes sir, I think it's going to be a problem. Understand, I think nothing is too good for Johnny, and I don't want 'em to stop trying to make him happy. But I still say they're liable to blow his tastes out of size to what his home town can afford.

But I figure Susie Simpkins is going to look better to Johnny right along. Partly, maybe, because Susie knows she's got to primp a little more, and let her hair down over one eye, and maybe put on some long eyelashes. I'm betting on Susie to meet the situation. Seems like women always have.

SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD NO. 2 GIVEN UNITED STATES FLAG

The Navarro County Selective Board No. 2 was formally presented with a large United States flag by members of the Corsicana Company A of the Texas Defense Guard Wednesday.

Presentation of the flag was made by Jack Thompson, assistant district attorney, who praised the outstanding work of the board members since the local selective service organization was established here Oct. 17, 1940.

Thompson said in part: "Your job is difficult, but you have done it well. You have served long hours and many months without compensation or reward of any character. The intention of this presentation is to show you that such patriotism and valor has not gone unnoticed by the citizens of this county."

Members of the board include O. L. Albritton, chairman; O. M. Rector and E. B. Rogers, Dawson. Secretarial assistants are Wade Smith, Claudette Redden and Mary Trimble.

The local defense guard company is now seeking new recruits. Teen age boys as well as married men are being sought. Those wishing to join are urged to apply to Captain L. S. Keen, Lieut. T. C. Currie or Staff Sergeant C. L. Mithun.

Demand Real Condition.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) demanded today a "real condition" in congress in interpreting Republican promises.

from the people to pigeon-hole "real conditions" for the duration of the war. "If the administration is wise, it will swiftly move toward a real condition," Vandenberg declared in a statement. "It will deal more openly with both congress and the country. Congress itself should now create a unified committee on war co-operation."

The election, he said, "clearly means that the country is not satisfied with the way the war is being run."

Mrs. P. B. Caton, who underwent a major operation at the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic Wednesday, is reported doing well.

CAUTION URGED IN USE OF FIREARMS IN HUNTING SEASON

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—(SPL.)—As the hunting season approaches, the Texas State Health department urges caution in handling firearms. More than 200 Texans were killed in 1941 as a result of carelessness in handling guns, and at this time when human lives are being snuffed out in the war that is enveloping the world, it is more than ever important that we should conserve human lives on the home fronts.

With the inauguration of meat rationing and the reduced supply of this particular food, there is a possibility of more hunters going into the field than has been the custom for many years.

"It is not enough to deplore the waste of handling of firearms," asserts Dr. George W. Cox, State Health officer, "we should learn from the deaths of these victims the lessons of safety which will prevent this needless and shocking waste."

The State Department of Health suggests the following safety suggestions in handling guns:

While hunting be sure that the loaded gun is on safely until ready to fire. Never shoot without seeing your target clearly. Never aim through a fence carrying a loaded gun. If hunting with a companion stay close to him. Do not strike the ground or wounded game with the butt of a loaded gun. Never scuffle while holding a loaded gun or point it at a person "for fun." Always unload a gun before attempting to clean it. Always unload guns before taking them into the home. All guns should be carefully put away in the home out of the reach of small children.

THE WAR TODAY

greatest disasters that can befall an army.

Axis casualties already have been heavy. These must be climbing rapidly as the shell-shocked German and Italian soldiers retreat across the blazing sands, which themselves greedily soak up the lives of those who falter or are wounded.

Enemy losses in material also have been mountainous and probably the heaviest in history. Adolf Hitler has been in the destruction of tanks. As I pointed out yesterday, these racing Fortresses have been the backbone of Rommel's striking power.

Over Half Tanks Gone.

The Nazi marshal was estimated to have 500 tanks when the offensive started. Now the British communiqué tells us that 260 of these have been destroyed.

This would mean that more than half of the axis tanks in the field have been wiped out. Many more must be falling by the wayside as American and British airmen continue their devastating hail of bombs on struggling lines along the edge of the great military highway which skirts the Mediterranean.

The communiqué also records that 300 axis planes have been destroyed or damaged in the air and a like number on the ground. Many of the damaged planes will, of course, have to be abandoned as the axis forces retreat.

Big Part Air Fleet Destroyed.

This probably means that a minimum of half of Rommel's air fleet has been destroyed. The likelihood is that the figure is near-est three-quarters.

That is a colossal blow, especially since the Anglo-American aerial fleet already had superiority in the air before the dropping of Rommel's head from the skies.

Elimination of the axis from North Africa would alter the complexion of the European war.

Restoration of British domination over the Mediterranean area would remove a threat to the strategic Middle East.

It might easily result in the complete collapse of Italy.

It would vastly strengthen Spain's position of neutrality and this would open a situation which has been a constant worry to the allies.

No wonder the feehner's boasted intuition is making him see pink elephants. As a matter of fact, it looks as though his intuition might be right this time.

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR PERSONALITY

By VERONICA DENGEL

FOOT PEDICURING.

I have some helps for those other foot troubles which have their beginnings in bad fitting shoes. But do remember that you must correct the aggravating cause as you work to overcome the effect. An occasional visit to your chiropodist is a good investment—he can prevent so much pain by your own attention to corns, calluses and bunions. Just as with the dentist—don't wait until you are badly in need of help. I can remember the amazed expression on the face of one of my friends one day when I said I had been to the chiropodist. "What for—since when have you had foot trouble?" she exclaimed. And she was astonished when I said I had no trouble at all, was just being checked over, had a nice foot massage and pedicure. And why not—your toes need pedicuring just as your nails need manicuring. Whether or not you have polish on the toenails is a matter of choice—it amuses me; but the cuticle is quite the same and needs pushing back; the nails grow—and need clipping; and a massage of the feet and legs is "sheer heaven" when you have been standing for hours.

Keep your feet pretty—give them a pedicure at home, too. It is very simple. Here's how: Clip the nails straight across—no points or curves. The correct length is just a shade below the tip of the toe. Did you realize that the toenails protect the toes? When the nails are too short, they can't do this—and when they are too long, especially the nail on the big toe, you can injure it quite painfully should you suddenly stub your toe because the nail is pushed back against its root.

When they are clipped nicely, go over each nail with your emery board or file to smooth off rough spots. Then you won't be apt to snag your stockings. With your orange wood stick wrapped in cotton, go over each nail with your cuticle remover, pushing back the cuticle gently; and don't forget to clean well under the nails. Then clip away any rough edges and push back the cuticle again. Then let cold water run on your foot a moment before drying—just hold it under the tub faucet if you can—it is a wonderful soothing, stimulating trick! Dry thoroughly and if you wish rub the feet with a mentholated cream—grand for cooling those tired, burning feet. For that extra finish, and you will be delighted because you feel so much whiter and prettier, put liquid polish on your toe nails. A clear red should be used—no purple or pink tones. Place a pad of cotton between the toes so as to separate them. Then brush on your polish, leaving a tiny halflight all around the nail so that it can breathe. Read, sew, or write letters (your supplies should be at hand so that you won't have to move about) and don't take out the cotton pads until the nails are thoroughly dry—about half an hour should be right.

Tomorrow—Immaculate Grooming.

COUNTY BAPTIST BROTHERHOOD MET AT NAVARRO MILLS

The Baptist county Brotherhood met with the Navarro Mills Baptist church Tuesday night, Nov. 3, with President E. L. Brown in charge. Congregational singing was led by E. J. Love, with Mrs. Snider at the piano.

The Navarro Mills quartet, composed of Messrs. Snider, Bailey, Woodall and Miss Margaret Putman, gave three well rendered numbers.

After a very interesting talk Mr. Brown turned the services over to Vernon Warren, the program chairman, who introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Judge R. R. Owen. Judge Owen made a very inspiring talk which was enjoyed by the entire audience.

The ladies of the church served delicious coffee, hot chocolate and cake.

The next meeting will be with the Blooming Grove church on December 8.—Reporter.

Citizens Urged to Turn in Extra Tires

A total of 543 tires had been received at the Railway Express Company offices here Thursday morning, it was announced.

Few of the tires have been received from motorists in Corsicana and employees of the express company requested that local people with excess tires bring them in before the deadline and avoid the "last minute rush," confusion and delay.

Motorists with more than five tires per vehicle must bring the excess casings to the express company before they will be entitled to receive gasoline ration cards.

Receipts are issued the tire owners by the express company, the casings are sent to a government warehouse in Houston, and the government then sends checks for the amounts allowed.

WHOOPING COUGH IS SLIGHTLY PREVALENT IN CITY SCHOOLS

Summarizing her activities during the month of October, Marion McAdams, school nurse, listed a number of cases of whooping cough among younger students during the past thirty days.

The report issued through the office of Superintendent W. H. Norwood, disclosed that fall inspection at the Wm. E. Travis school has been completed and the summer round-up campaigns at Lee and Houston schools finished.

Only four students have had diphtheria since the opening of school, but parents are urged to see their family physician concerning immunization against all preventable diseases, she stated.

A statistical account of her work include the following: 62 school visits; 49 home visits; 13 dressings; three health talks; three meetings attended; 590 individual inspections; four children taken to doctor's office; six children fitted with glasses; 29 children excluded from school because of communicable diseases; 18 children supplied with medicine; and 11 children supplied with soap.

blinded blows of American and British Imperial airmen.

While 9,000 prisoners (by a count already 24 hours old) streamed dejectedly to the British rear, the Allied air forces kept hitting at the foe, and the main coastal line of retreat was described as a veritable graveyard of smoking, twisted tanks, armored cars and trucks.

(The Axis) Rome acknowledged severe losses, said that Italian and German armies had withdrawn to new lines in the west. The Germans denied that their front had been breached.

(The Italian communiqué, however, indicated the depth of the Eighth Army's drive—at least its tank spearheads—when it told of "fierce and bloody fighting" by tank and infantry forces of both sides between El Alamein and Fuka.

(Fuka is about 70 miles to the west of El Alamein. The British have not announced their present positions.)

It was believed that Rommel has no large reserves behind him, either in western Egypt or Libya. Most military observers among the British held that his full force had been marshaled on the now crumbled El Alamein line where Rommel had pushed nearly to Alexandria and the Nile.

Allies Take Heavy Toll

The sudden collapse of the Axis defense was announced last night in a British communiqué after 12 days of furious fighting in which the Allies were said to have taken a tremendous toll of Rommel's men and equipment.

Today's communiqué told of a continuing British advance on all sectors of the front, with enemy tanks and anti-tank guns attempting to fight a rear-guard action along the coastal road in the north—the main avenue of retreat.

At the southern end of the narrow front, Axis forces were reported still holding out in a few isolated positions, but it appeared that the British were by-passing these in their general advance.

Allied planes kept the retreating Axis forces under heavy attack and the dwindling air force at Rommel's command was kept strictly on the defensive.

Intense fighting, reinforcements from retreating Rommel, Allied bombers and torpedo carrying planes also blasted at his overseas supply lines, damaging a tanker and a heavily laden merchant vessel and scoring three hits on escorting destroyers, the communiqué said.

Italians Admit Heavy Losses

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts), Nov. 5.—(AP)—An Italian communiqué today announced that the Italian army had suffered "appreciable damage" to Tobruk and Benghazi—the Axis' chief forward ports for receiving reinforcements and supplies—in the air raid on the two Libyan harbors.

Several persons were killed and numerous others injured in both places, it said.

"Greatly superior" allied air strength was reported, but the communiqué said Axis fighters engaged the allied planes "with ex-axis line beyond El Alamein, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

Following up last night's communiqué reporting the sudden collapse of Rommel's once proud African corps—the armored invasion force that only a few months ago threatened to overrun the Valley of the Nile—British headquarters today announced:

"The British Army continued to advance over the whole front yesterday."

"In the south, the enemy is still holding out in a few isolated positions."

"British Advancing Rapidly."

"In the north, he has a screen of anti-tank guns and tanks which is withdrawing before our advancing forces."

"British vanguards were reported advancing rapidly toward El Daba, key axis air base 35 miles west of El Alamein, after passing the half-way mark at Sidi Abd El Rahman."

Meanwhile, dispatches from Cairo disclosed the safe arrival of 2,000 American troops in Egypt—most of them trained specialists—and at the same time it was revealed that United States troops have also arrived in Palestine.

Besides the British triumph in Egypt, good news came from three other key fronts in World War II: Solomon Islands.

Solomon Islands—U. S. Army troops and Marines were officially reported to have scored new gains against the Japanese western flank on Guadalcanal Island, taking the initiative despite the landing of fresh Japanese reinforcements several days ago.

A Navy communiqué said the American defenders, surging out from their six-mile-long corridor at Henderson airport, captured 20 machineguns and two field artillery pieces in their advance.

New Guinea—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that allied troops overcame "strong enemy resistance" and plunged on across the 120-mile-wide Papuan Peninsula toward the Japanese coastal base at Buna.

Russian Front.

Russian—Soviet dispatches declared the Red armies had crushed new German assaults in the 73-day-old siege of Stalingrad, killing at least 1,000 Nazis in the last 24 hours, and made local gains in two sectors in the Caucasus.

The Russian communiqué said the Germans had thrown fresh reinforcements into the attack on Stalingrad's bloody northside factory district and widened the offensive on all sectors of the Volga metropolis, only to meet a stubborn defense.

In the Caucasus, the Russians reported they had captured several more strong points and killed about 400 Germans in fighting along the Black Sea coast, northeast of Tiflis.

Other Soviet gains were reported in the Moxdok sector in the Central Caucasus, gateway to the Grozny oil fields, and stiffened Red army defenses were declared to be holding against the enemy's drive on the Nazi troops on the Nalchik plateau 50 miles to the west.

German U-Boat Reports.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Nov. 5.—(AP)—A special communiqué from the German headquarters declared today that "in far-flung operations extending from the Arctic to waters south of Madagascar German submarines have inflicted fresh heavy losses on the enemy's transport fleets," claiming the sinking of 26 freighters totaling 168,000 tons.

(These claims lacked confirmation from any other quarters. It has been noted that Berlin frequently issues such reports of submarine sinkings which can not be checked, at times when news of other phases of the war is bad for Germany. This communiqué coincides with Rommel's defeat in Egypt.)

Dirt Farmer Stockmen To Honor Smith and Members Legislature

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Lieut. Gov. Elect John Lee Smith and the 41 members of the Texas legislature will be honored Dec. 7 by members of the Dirt Farmer Stockmen organization meeting here to discuss proposed legislation affecting agriculture.

Lamar C. Trousdale of Houston, president, said yesterday in announcing the meeting:

"We hope to make it possible for many agriculturalists, stockmen and businessmen to meet at one time the new members of the legislature without having to make several trips to Austin to contact them concerning expected legislative action in the legislature."

The operation was carried out east of Wolf Point which is about six miles east of Henderson Field. Attacking marines were repulsed at dawn on Nov. 4, the communiqué said, but are now "pressing their attack on these enemy troops."

RED ARMIES BREAK UP LATEST GERMAN STALINGRAD DRIVE

RUSSIANS REPORTED HOLDING NAZIS BACK IN CAUCASUS ALSO

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Russians have broken up all the latest Nazi efforts to expand the invasion salient in northern Stalingrad and, in some places, have forced the Germans to abandon their main points, dispatches said today.

While bitter attacks and counter-attacks developed about the ruined Volga river city, Red army troops were credited with local gains northwest of Stalingrad, on the Black Sea front and in the Moxdok sector of the Central Caucasus.

A successful Soviet holding action was indicated before the Caucasian slopes and passes southeast of Nalchik.

Izvestia said the battle of Stalingrad was characterized by a growing maneuverability of Red army units.

Observers stressed the heaviness of the German attacks, however, and at least one point of their thrust in a new division. There were many hand-to-hand clashes. The latest German loss reported was 1,000 men yesterday.

The Nazi air force bombed the city's defenses steadily in support of the ground operations. There have been several hundred flights in the last few days.

As German bombers flew over the ruins in groups of three to 15, a Soviet garrison force broke up repeated ground drives toward the factories, dispatches from Stalingrad said. The Germans sought to knife between two plants, but this thrust also was stopped.

"In the southern sector of the city's defenses 140 Germans were wiped out," the noon communiqué said. "Soviet troops destroyed an enemy artillery battery, 10 machine guns and three mortars."

The army newspaper Red Star was authority for the statement that the Germans had lost thousands of dead in their newest futile

No Comfort For Enemy in Results Hoover Declares
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, commenting on the election results today, said that "our enemies can get no comfort from this election."

Hoover said that the platform of the Republican-Labor ticket was "a platform of victory, single candidate—Republican, Democratic and Labor was vigorous, efficient prosecution of the war."

His complete statement followed: "Our enemies can get no comfort from this election. The platform of the single candidate—Republican, Democratic and Labor—was vigorous, efficient prosecution of the war. There was a strong element of protest in the vote. But it was the protest of indignation upon more effective organization of the war. And that can be no comfort for the enemy."

"Those who believe in freedom everywhere will gain confidence from the demonstration that freedom can hold to its protective institutions even in desperate wars."

Twelfth District PTA President is active
Mrs. J. K. Bradley of Rice, Twelfth District president of the Texas Congress of Parent and Teachers, has been very active during the month of October. She taught Schools of Instruction for the Henderson County Council at Athens, Oct. 10; Rust County at Lanesville, Oct. 17; Freestone County Council at Teague, Oct. 24.

Mrs. Bradley reports that all of the meetings were well attended and the counties are carrying on war activities. Much interest is being shown in the sale of stamps, bonds, salvage campaigns and Red Cross courses sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations as units, Mrs. Bradley reported.

The president urges P-T-A's to keep up their important work and to observe American Education and Book Weeks during November.

ported today (Australian time) that the Nipponese New Guinea invasion which in late September had penetrated as far as 32 miles from the Allies' port Moresby base, now had been pushed back several miles beyond Kodoka, midway point across the island's 120-mile waist.

While the ground advance continued, Allied planes sought to blast away obstacles on the way to the Japanese Buna base. The air assault, which struck the beaches and landing areas at Buna, itself, also fanned out to subsidiary Nipponese bases of Lae and Salamaua up the coast.

The attacks, executed to hinder any Japanese efforts to bolster Buna by sea, set many fires and probably destroyed an enemy munitions dump, the raiders reported. Medium bombers also announced "heavy damage" inflicted on Dili and the Japanese-occupied villages of Moabisse and Alley in Portuguese Timor.

vett awarded him the congressional medal for his "outstanding contributions to the American spirit." Before he died Cohan had, among the thousands of other tributes paid him, the privilege of seeing his own life in pictures. This was in the movie "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and Cohan played James Cagney to play the role of Cohan. Too, in the picture, he heard some of his best known songs including "Over There," "I'm a Grand Old Flag," and "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway."

When "Yankee Doodle Dandy" had its premiere on Broadway the tickets of admission were war-savings bonds, some destroyed and some for as much as $25,000 and when the gross was added there were $5,500,000 bonds sold.

So Cohan died with the comfort of knowing that he had achieved the highest box office business in theatrical history and that he had done it for his country.

"Drama Practitioner."
George M. Cohan, once aptly described as a "drama practitioner," was dancer, actor, dramatist, producer, manager, composer and lyricist, motion picture and talkie star in a career that extended over more than 40 years. Also he was something of a poet and was always a baseball fan.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, quoting Victor Hugo's dictum that melody was the crowning tragedy of the world, said that Cohan's genius satirized and fun-provoking lines and antics had helped men and women to become thinkers in the modern American theater.

Cohan's efforts ran the gamut from being a boy prodigy violinist at the age of 5 to recognition in his mellow years as America's foremost stage interpreter of comedy for women and comedy for the thinker, once said that Cohan's genial satire and fun-provoking lines and antics had helped men and women to become thinkers in the modern American theater.

Cohan's efforts ran the gamut from being a boy prodigy violinist at the age of 5 to recognition in his mellow years as America's foremost stage interpreter of comedy for women and comedy for the thinker, once said that Cohan's genial satire and fun-provoking lines and antics had helped men and women to become thinkers in the modern American theater.

All told he wrote some forty plays, collaborated in the framing of thirty more, turned out more than 100 songs, close to 200 vaudeville sketches and about a score of poems.

Born in Rhode Island, Cohan was born in Providence, R. I., to the popping of firecrackers and the waving of flags on July 4, 1878. His parents were troupers of the old school variety shows, Jerry Cohan and Helen Costigan. A daughter, Josephine, was also born to them and the family later became noted for its "act" as the Four Cohans.

But before that stage was reached the son had blossomed out as a child violinist, billed as "Master George." He quit this within a few years to become a child actor, having his first regular lines in "Little Johnny Jones." To his countrymen generally he was the composer of the world war song "Over There!"

He toured in the title role of "Freck's Bad Boy" a comedy based upon the humorous writings of a former governor of Wisconsin. His sister and parents meanwhile traveled with various road companies but the family came together in 1880 and for ten years played back and forth across the country in variety theaters from Tony Pastor's in New York to the old Orpheum in San Francisco. They rarely failed to have booking for 52 weeks in the year.

Introduced Royalty System.
George started writing songs and vaudeville sketches in this period. He once said that he wrote 150 of the latter while he was between 17 and 21 years old. Instead, however, of selling them outright for the standard price of $50, he introduced the system of demanding royalties of from $10 to $25 a week on each for as long as the sketch lasted.

In 1901 he wrote, composed, directed and produced "The Governor's Son" which took the four Cohans into legitimate theaters. Shortly thereafter he and Sam Harris formed a producing partnership which in the next few years put on more than 50 comedies, plays and revues, with and without music.

At one time the partnership controlled five theaters in New York and one in Chicago. The association ended in June, 1920, and thereafter Cohan continued for years "on his own."

Cohan long resisted all blandishments to get him into film plays but succumbed in 1915 for a brief contract that resulted in three silent movies and, in 1932, he made his first "talkie." "It's my last one, too," he said when he returned from Hollywood to his beloved Broadway.

Cohan was married twice. His first wife was Ethel Levey, who became his dancing partner with "The Four Cohans" after his sister Josephine married. A daughter, Georgeette, was born to them. The marriage was dissolved in 1907. The second Mrs. Cohan was Mary Nolan. They were married July 4, 1908. Their children were Mary Helen, Helen Frances and George Michael, Jr.

without losing one to the Democrats, and the latter had lost eight. Independent George W. Norris, Nebraska, also lost out to a Republican, Kenneth S. Wherry.

Senate Situation
The Democrats elected 15, which with 41 holdovers, gave them a total of 56 in the new senate starting January 3. Republicans elected 18 and with 20 incumbents not up for re-election gave them a total of 38. The senate's lone progressive, LaFollette of Wisconsin, was not up this year.

This Democratic majority of 17 or plurality of 18 over the Republicans compares with an existing majority of 34 or plurality of 38. Lowest majority in recent years was in 1933 when the division was 59 Democrats and 36 Republicans. Highest was in 1937 when it was 75 Democrats to 17 Republicans.

Of the 33 governorships at stake, including that in Maine which elected Sept. 14, the Republicans won 17, the Democrats 13, and Progressives one. Two were still in doubt—in Idaho and Wyoming. Counting holdovers, the Democrats now will have at least 23 governors, the Republicans 22, and Progressives one.

Technically or course the Democrats retained control of both houses of congress. However, dependable working majorities cannot be counted on by the administration at all times when it is considered that party members do not vote solidly, particularly on domestic questions.

Besides the veteran Norris, such supporters as Senators Her- ring of Iowa, Lee of Oklahoma, Brown of Michigan, Smathers of New Jersey, and Schwartz of Wyoming. Other Democratic seats won by the Republicans were in Delaware, West Virginia, and South Dakota.

Less Politics In War
Rep. J. William Ditter, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, in a statement issued at Philadelphia, viewed the party's house gains as resulting from a "public demand for greater efficiency and less politics by the national administration in the prosecution of this war."

Senator-elect Wherry, at Omaha attributed his defeat of 81 year old Senator Norris to a "repudiation" by Nebraskans of the New Deal, dissatisfaction over the drafting of labor from farms and industry, and administration of the farm and food programs.

He said he was not going to be a "obstructionist," but was going to support the commander-in-chief in every way he could.

A. B. (Happy) Chandler (D-Ky) was elected over Richard J. Colbert, Republican national committeeman from Kentucky.

Rep. May Barely Wins.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Rep. A. J. (Jack) May, one of President Roosevelt's war aides, won re-election by the narrowest of margins in the seventh district, and Sen. Albert B. (Happy) Chandler was returned to office for a full six-year term, virtually complete unofficial returns from Kentucky precincts showed today.

May's return to congress as chairman of the important house military affairs committee was fought by the United Mine Workers and their president, John L. Lewis, but tabulations from 262 of the seventh's 363 precincts gave the representative a margin of 22,138 votes to 21,627 for Dr. Elmer E. Gabbard, republican. No votes were cast in one precinct.

Richard J. Colbert, Lexington Republican, conceded defeat to Senator Chandler.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The White House was silent today on the Republican gains in Tuesday's elections.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early was asked about the results and replied:

"I have not talked to the president about the election, and I'm sure you would not be interested in my own views."

Rayburn Disappointed.
BONHAM, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) expressed disappointment today over the defeat of many house and senate members in Tuesday's election in which the Republicans made wide gains, but said it is now definite that the Democrats will control the house and "we will be able to carry on and do all things necessary in the total war effort."

The administration leader made this election statement: "It is definite now that the Democrats will control the house, which of course is gratifying to me. I was surprised and disappointed in many of the contests. I am grieved at the defeats of many good men in the house and senate as well. In my opinion their records and accomplishments deserved a better fate at the hands of the voters. However, we will be able to carry on and do all things necessary in the total war effort."

Speaker Rayburn, who returned to his home town to vote and attend to personal business affairs, said he would depart tomorrow and arrive in Washington on Sunday.

Foreign Reaction to Election.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Berlin broadcast today accounts of the United States elections which interpreted them as a sharp setback for the Roosevelt administration.

No comment by German spokesmen was broadcast and the interpretation, under Stockholm and Paris dispatches, were attributed to Swedish and French journalists.

The Paris newspaper Le Matin reported the elections under a headline, "Sharp Warning to Roosevelt." A Berlin broadcast said, "It added that an editorial in Le Matin was headed: 'United
